

environmental audit

Today, businesses of all kinds are held to account for the way they affect the environment.

Businesses need to maximise profits by keeping costs down (e.g. by minimising waste and saving energy), and comply with strict laws about pollution and waste disposal.

- What waste products will your business operations produce?
 - How can you minimise/recycle these?

- What sources of energy will be used in your business operations?
 - How will you optimise energy efficiency?

- Are there any ways in which you can reduce water consumption?
